Wind of Change

For some reason the song by the Scorpions always tears me up.

I think it’s something to do with the unrealised dreams and angst of a browbeaten Generation X.

It takes faith to keep dreaming.