

Q&A: There are a lot of movie remakes at the moment and old tv shows being made into movies. If you could chose an old film or tv show to redo with a fresher modern version what would you chose, how would you do it and why?

Nice.

I'm not sure. Most of my childhood things have been redone – A-Team, Knight Rider, Doctor Who, Scooby Doo etc. We didn't have a TV for much of my childhood (we bought one to plug the Commodore 64 into) so I'm deprived in this area...

Perhaps Battle of the Planets? But I suspect that would be really really cheesy and annoying – like the redone Astro Boy.

I don't want to see 70's British comedy revisited. Except, perhaps, The Goodies (or equivalent concept).

What about Mary Poppins – not as the movie/musical, but as the books, re-done as a series? I loved those books.

And I think for me, that would be what I would want to see – books converted to the screen in a good way. Because it was books that shaped my childhood. So show me Biggles as a TV series. Do Lord of the Rings and Narnia properly. Do Robin Hood properly.

But then again, a remake of Back to the Future would be fun.

Perhaps it could be done by 2015 ☐

Originally: <http://www.formspring.me/briggswill/q/720342853>